

Three students in their science class were discussing about what causes seasons on Earth. Here are some of their answers.

- Student one: Seasons are caused by how close Earth is to the Sun
- Student two: Season are caused by Earth's axis tilt towards away from the Sun throughout the year.
- Student Three: Season are caused by climate change

Which student do you agree with for the cause of seasons on Earth? Why do you agree with that student?